College Township Cemetery is located at Quarry Chapel and the intersection of Quarry Chapel Road and Monroe Mills Road, Gambier, Ohio, 43022.

Quarry Chapel was dedicated in January 1863. The earliest confirmed grave site is Joseph Dale, who died from a fall from a tree at age 11 in 1872. However, there are three gravesites from the 1860's in the left rear of the cemetery, one a 16 year old girl. Her mother may be buried nearby.

There are two graves of veterans of the Civil War.

1(1) Emanuel S. Daneman 1981

Emanuel S. Daneman, 97, 107 Wiggen Street, Gambier, died Saturday afternoon at his home.

Born Sept. 8, 1884 in Germantown, to the late Aron and Ella (Sternberger) Daneman, he was a former resident of Cincinnati and had lived in Gambier for the past three years.

Mr. Daneman was a deacon of the Walnut Hills Christian School, Cincinnati.

He was a 59 year member of the Avon Lodge No. 542 F.&A.M., a 49 year member of the Scottish Rite, and a 49 year member of the Syrian Temple Shrine, all of Cincinnati.

Mr. Daneman was also a 30 year member of the Cincinnati Club.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. E. Adams Daneman of Gambier, with whom he made his home, and Joseph Aaron Daneman of Houston, Texas; 10 grand-children; and several great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Richard Harbour will officiate for a graveside service at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Quarry Chapel Cemetery.

(2) Emanuel Adams Daneman 1984

E. Adams Daneman

Dr. E. Adams Daneman, 59, long-time Gambier resident, died Thursday due to complications of injuries sustained when his car caught on fire on C.H. 33 Aug. 23. He was taken to University Hospital in Columbus, where his condition initially was described as critical.

Dr. Daneman was founder of Daneman Laboratories which is now the premier electroencephalograph (EEG) and echoencephalograph (ECHO) service in the United States with more than 100 client hospitals. A nationally honored neurologist and psychotherapist, Dr. Daneman was also a scientist and inventor.

He was born Oct. 11, 1924 in Cincinnati to Emanuel S. and Lillian (Adams) Daneman. As a Kenyon College junior he displayed such intellectual promise that he was directly admitted to the University of Cincinnati School of Medicine. There he read Freud in the original German and took advanced courses in psychoanalysis. At age 22, he earned an M.D.

After completing his residency at Louisville General Hospital, Dr. Daneman was invited to join the staff of Worcester State Hospital (Mass.), an institution in the vanguard of American psychiatry and psychoanalysis for more than 100 years. At Worcester, Daneman was to become the pre-eminent EEG interpreter.

While still in his 30s he authored research, introducing new insights on arteriosclerosis, that was presented before the Third International Congress in Gerontology, London, England.

It was in 1956 that Daneman went into private practice nationwide EEG and ECHO analysis. Originally, communication by the doctor and client hospitals was by mail. But in 1971 Daneman co-invented portable equipment that perfected two-way telephone transmission.

In recent years, Dr. Daneman continued his renowned nationwide practice in EEG and ECHO from his laboratories in Mount Vernon.

Dr. Daneman is survived by his wife, Gail (Peters) of Gambier; six children, Eve, Madelyn, Sarah, Stuart, Susan Daneman Richardson, and Mary; and a brother, Joseph Aaron Daneman.

He was preceded in death by his mother in 1941 and his father in 1981.

There will be no calling hours. Graveside service will be 3 p.m. Sunday at Quarry Chapel Cemetery, Gambier. The Rev. Lincoln Stelk will officiate. The Dowds-Wiggins Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

The family has asked donations be made to the Kenyon Review of Kenyon College or Rutherford B. Hayes Memorial Library.

the preceding year. From 1974 to 1980, he served as a trustee to the college. In 1955, he received his law degree from The Ohio State University. At Ohio State, he was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, managing editor of the Ohio State Law Journal, and vice-president of the student bar association. He was a life member of the Ohio State Alumni Association. He was also an avid Buckeye football fan, especially during those many years when Woody Hayes was the Buckeye coach. Coach Hayes, of course, was an earlier graduate of Newcomerstown High School. In 1955, he was admitted to the Ohio Bar, and also began military service in the Far East with the U.S. Navy. In 1957, he became associated with the Toledo, Ohio law firm of Fuller, Harrington, Seney & Henry; a predecessor of Fuller & Henry Ltd. He later became a partner in the firm. He was a special counsel for the Ohio attorney general in the late 1960s. Over the years, he represented many clients in Toledo and elsewhere. In addition to being admitted to practice before the courts of the state of Ohio, he was also admitted to practice before several federal courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States. In 1997, he and his wife moved to Gambier. They attended the Church of the Holy Spirit on the campus of Kenyon College where they were members of Harcourt Parish. Until 2000, he continued to serve as counsel to the Toledo law firm where he actively practiced law for almost 40 years. After his retirement as counsel, he was able to publish two books relating to his family's history: A Leech Family of Newcomerstown, Ohio (2002) and Three John Brothers in the Civil War (2005). Surviving Mr. Leech is his wife of almost 60 years, Patricia Ann (Tubaugh) formerly of Cleveland, son, Charles R Leech III, and daughter-in-law, Monica of Logan, and daughter, Wendy Leech Wolfe, and son-in-law, Michael L. Wolfe of Gambier. Another son, Timothy

51 (4) *Arthur M. Cox, Jr. 2000

Arthur M. Cox, Jr. Alumni leader Art Cox '42 is dead at eighty-two Arthur M. Cox '42, a long-time Kenyon volunteer, died of cancer on August 29, 2000. He was eighty-two and a resident of Manchester Township, New Jersey.

As a student, Art was active in many areas of College life. He joined Delta Tau Delta and participated in the Aeronautics Club, the Dramatic Club, the Kenyon Singers, the Philomathesian Society, the Photography Club, and the Moving Picture Committee.

After service in the U. S. Army during World War II, Art became an agent for the Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee Railroad. He later went on to a long and distinguished career in public relations in Chicago, Illinois, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Newark, New Jersey, working with Railway Age magazine, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce, from which he retired in 1985.

As a resident of Leisure Village West (LVW) in Manchester Township, Art served as chair of the advisory council to the LVW trustees. He was also chair of the LVW Resident Service Division and station manager of KLVW, the village's closed-circuit television station.

Art's devotion to the College was expressed in many ways. From secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Alumni Association in 1946-47, to class agent and member of the Kenyon Fund Executive Committee in recent years, Art handled his varied roles as correspondent and fundraiser with great seriousness and success. His name was familiar to many Bulletin readers as a frequent contributor to the magazine. Art also made many and varied contributions to Kenyon's library, ranging from rare books and magazines to videos of such early films as Wings.

In May 2000, just three months before his death, Art received the Gregg Cup for 2000, Kenyon's highest alumni accolade. The award was given in recognition of his life-long devotion to Kenyon and the many contributions he made over the years. Because Art was too ill to travel to Gambier at the time, Lisa Dowd Schott '80, executive director of alumni and parent relations and annual funds, presented the award in his home. He had previously received the Distinguished Service Award from Alumni Council in 1997.

Art is survived by his wife, Beatrice Parker Cox, a Gambier native whose great-grandfather was the head stonemason hired by Philander Chase to build Old Kenyon; a daughter, Carol Hartman; a son, Edward P. Cox; four grandchildren; and a brother, Kendall Cox.

(Donaldson) Bertschy of Gambier; 2 brothers, Robert Bertschy of Mount Vernon and Jay Bertschy of Kansas City, KS; maternal grandmother, Margaret Donaldson of Swansea, MA; paternal grand-mother, Emily Bertschy of Dover MA; special friend, Kim Lotspeich of Minford.

The family will observed private services.

(V) Margaret B. McKenzie 1868

This is one of the mysteries of the cemetery. Chapel records show a Burial for Mrs. Ann McKenzie on February 20, 1879 but there is no gravestone. There is a gravestone for Margaret B McKenzie born in 1852 and died on February 5, 1868 at the age of 16. Can we assume they were mother and daughter? Records find an Ann Kerr born in Scotland in 1811 who married Hector McKenzie in Scotland on March 9, 1837 at the age of 26. Hector died in Scotland in 1860 at age 51. Ann would have been 68 at the time of her burial or funeral at the Chapel.
